DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims do not clearly point out and distinctly claim the "mechanism of fixing said flexible pipe". It is not clear what the mechanism is or how it fixes the flexible pipe so as not to shrink at the time of evacuation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the applicants disclosed prior art in view of Sweeny US Patent 1,559,804, and Elliotte, US Patent 2,663,894.

The applicant discloses vacuum bonding chambers for bonding liquid crystal display devices that include flexible pipe. (Page 2 lines 20-33)

The disclosed prior art does not teach a mechanism, specifically a bar attached to the vacuum pumps on near the flexible pipe and supporting the bar and reducing the shrinking by attaching the bar to the floor.

Sweeny and Elliotte both discuss the problem of supporting flexible pipes while they are under a compressive load caused by a vacuum. Sweeny teaches supporting the flexible pipe 24 with sturdy bars 18, 18', 19, 19' (see figures 1 and 1a). Elliotte teaches supporting the flexible hose 59 with sturdy beams 62 and chains 103, 105 (see figure 1). It is also well known in the art that a compressive load can be supported with a chain in tension (see Elliotte).

The motivation for supporting a load induced by a vacuum is to keep all the components in place so that the machine can function as required as taught by Sweeny and Elliotte.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to support the load imposed on the vacuum pumps of the disclosed prior art by providing a chain attached to a bar as a rigid support means as taught by Elliotte, to enable the apparatus of the disclosed prior art to properly function as taught by Sweeny and Elliotte.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited art teaches the technological background of the invention.
